

Cancer Girl

Six O'Clock Saints

you know i left
you behind
you aren't mine

you're just another
woman in line
you aren't mine
no longer mine

and when you
followed me in your car i wondered why
and since you
harassed me
now I'm thinking you're losing your mind

those nasty things
that you said
echo in my head
those dirty deeds
you were f*cking around with the boys in town

and when your pupils dilate and sweat rolls down your mind remember the guilt you stitched your wearing it better than i

nothing is unconditional
my sugar sky
my angel eyes
this us became habitual
it made me die

and when i asked you you just gave me your beautiful lie and now that this trust is fucked I'm packing another goodbye

Lyrics submitted by Al.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>