Fade In Fade Out

The Forecast

I'll watch the lights slip past the trees
Begging for kisses to be made
Without a bottle's helping hands
We'll watch the movies where the lines are saidI will repeat them back to you
Without a bottle's helping handsTalking about a long night for a fist fight
Strap your memories to your back
And hang that noose around your neckTalking about a long night for a fist fight
Strap your memories to your back
And hang that noose around your neckAnd your photos they're fading now
You said, you said this is your chance to turn it all aroundYour past mistakes hold no weight
'Cause we're always moving forward
Never turn around, don't look back now
That's why, that's okayTalking about a long night for a fist fight
Strap your memories to your back
And hang that noose around your neckTalking about a long night for a fist fight
Strap your memories to your back
And hang that noose around your neckAs we walk home the snow falls around us
As we fall onto the sidewalks with our heads up
Always looking for a hands up or a hand out
It was nice to know you then
