Main Street

Late Night Alumni

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Self-assured with a cold heart
I was sure the words had failed us
So roundabout I take the curtains down
Sweep beneath chairs, the unanswered prayersNow I'm haunted by a longing so early in the morning
It greets me without warningCoincidence I see you today
We small talk but time gets in the way
So I clip the clock's wings, we talk about smart things
Find myself smiling for the first time in daysNow I'm haunted by a longing this afternoon on Main StreetYou're smiling and oh, how apropos
I once had an ending but now I have the go
I laugh when you say, "Flowers say what they mean"
'Cause roundabout you say the funniest thingsNow I'm haunted by a longing so late in the evening
It greets me with a warning for life

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/