

Nameless Nemesis

nano

As the dark seeps nearer, I look in the mirror
And the vision that I see is the lifeless soul
Smiling back through my eyes
My fight with the enemy begins tonight

When the days were younger
A innocent wanderer,
In search for a place to belong

Barricaded by a danger
A merciless deceiver
Who took advantage of me

When all that was left was weakness
Overcome by a numbness
The wanderer's world fell through
Every sense of identity, broken into pieces of loneliness

The trigger was simple
Desire ruled over
The strength to take control
But the sacrifice came with a heavy price
When the enemy awoke inside

It ends tonight, it ends tonight
Before I let you become the end of me
Tell me how to win this fight
How win this fight to save my life
I've been running from the answer
But the time is running out on me
The echo of the countdown is killing me
This gamble with the nameless side
will end tonight

Somehow I've become a victim
To a faceless virus
And the pain grows stronger each day

I've cut every vital lifeline
And I've annihilated reason

But it's eating my sanity away
I've crossed the line

I've watched my life that I'm wasting away
I've spent my days giving into the shame
I've let my mind play a dangerous game
That I'm losing now with everything I own

I've stood so long that I'm running astray
I've nothing left at the end of the day
I've become a slave to satisfy the void
But the hunger still remains

My mind is too addicted
To the this twisted emotion
Even though it infects my heart
When I close my eyes and I will realize that the enemy lives inside

It ends tonight, it ends tonight
Before I let you become the end of me
Tell me how to win this fight
How to win this fight to save life
I've been running from the answer
But the time is running out on me
The echo of the countdown is killing me
This gamble with the nameless side
will end tonight

The fight inside of me will end tonight

At times it may feel as if I'm facing a dead end
At night when I sleep, my dilemma is there again
But I know that this is who I am, who I am
Even in the final hour,
Where there's a will, there's a way
So I'm choosing now, while the chance still remains
To release myself from this nightmare

I see at last, I feel at last
I've been losing myself instead of finding me
But I've found my cure at last
And I know at last, it's been inside

It ends tonight, it ends tonight
Before I let you become the end of me

Tell me how to win this fight
How to win this fight to save my life
I've been running from the answer
But the time is running out on me
The echo of the countdown is killing me
This gamble with the nameless side
will end tonight

The fight inside of me will end tonight
The nemesis inside will die tonight

Lyrics Submitted by Joker

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>