One Night Away

Delays

There's nothing in the morning Just flowers and a feeling That yesterday was stalling For time to let the scene inBut you know how everything grows And you know, the feeling is love But you're one night away You're one night awayThe snow has started falling And covered our graffiti I wander through the city To find we're stealing eveningBut you know how everything grows And you know the feeling is love But you're one night away You're one night away, oh, yeah Oh, you're one night awayThe feeling is love The feeling is loveLove Love Love
