

Fragile

Slowtide

where, where does that road take a turn? we're careless unless we're concerned but you have a different view nothing's more fragile than you how, what made you survive in this live when all you hold dear is a lie? so full of an urge to be true

    nothing's more fragile than you but if you break you break in style noone can turn form this side you're born again as someone's child one living proof that you were right you were right here, time after time and again you take on it to the last stand but taking as much as you do nothing's more fragile than you

why, you suffer a fatal abuse you die with the fall of the truth how could you start life anew?
    nothing's more fragile than you
