Lyrics:
Walk Away
Written By: Jeff McCool
Performed By: Jeff Mccool and Megan RÃ¼ger

Yea, I been going through a couple things head spinning on the porch while the birds sing i try and get into his care free mindset, time flies, getting old but i aint blind yet A little life left and I'm a make the best of it here i am burnt out now confessing it where'd i go wrong is not the question at hand, but where i went right and became a man kids looking up to me with grown folk crying from the words that i spoken when i wasn't even trying i wanna walk away but i dont know if i will let me and if i walk away i dont know if i'll respect me

If i tried to walk away, would you let me
If i quit it all today, would you respect me if i slowly start to fall would you hold me See, they think I've got it all, but they don't know me

Sometimes I feel like my best is passed like i poured out my soul and filled up that glass like i gave every ounce that i had to give like writing bad checks cause i had to live like going on the road when i felt like i was dying falling to your knees and you couldn't stop crying knowing that your time in the light is dim knowing that it's time for the fat to trim sometimes i feel like i keep on writing just to say something that you think's exciting i roll like thunder i flash like lighting speaking from the heart while my chest is tightning

If i tried to walk away, would you let me
If i quit it all today, would you respect me
if i slowly start to fall would you hold me See, they think I've got it all, but they don't know me they dont have to know me as long as im true winning's not a trophy, this is what i'm telling you my bodys beat down, my heads a mess they got me lying down trying to beat the stress but i throw on a mask, paint it with a smile fill another flask, and drive them miles see, i love my fans without them i'm nil and the hurt that i feel cant be fixed with a pill did i stay too long writing you these songs will you miss and respect me when im gone you gotta realize that the clock dont stop is it wrong that i wanna go out on top

If i tried to walk away, would you let me
If i quit it all today, would you respect me
if i slowly start to fall would you hold me See, they think I've got it all, but they don't know me
