

Rise

Saves The Day

Let's call it off
All my veins are tangled up, tied
If you could see into me
I've had enough of the games
In knots and my heart beats slowly now,
When is the time when you aren't in my mind?
It's emptying into the the streets

Swirling straight away down the drain and back to sea
Setting flames, ravaging all my dreams?
When can I finally wake to the sunlight shining on my cheeks
And the wind sweeping me away
Far from every memory with your face in the frame?
That'll be the day
When the sky starts burning, the earth ain't moving
And we rise in the morning to kiss the scorching sun before it falls
We all become sane

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>