

Alive Again (feat. Mike Portnoy)

Neal Morse

You called me forth amid the waves
And wayward waters
That kind of trust I've never found
I always wind up sinking down
Was I really dead
At the bottom of the ocean?
Stay the course I heard you say
But all I saw was the long way...
Down
Now I feel like I'm alive again
Spread my arms upon the open wind
Yeah, I feel like I'm alive again
Crashing waves like breath upon my skin
The wounded warrior
Has no temporary shelter
Crashing down an enemy
That always lurked inside of me
Finally he killed
What he had come to think his quarry
The man whose heart was like the sea
Wass gone and he would never be found
Now I feel like I'm alive again
Spread my arms upon the open wind
Yeah, I feel like I'm alive again
Never looking back to where I've been
I can see the light
Burning in my soul
I can see the light
I know that I must go
The king of surprise
In the boredom queen
Went out to dine at the bottom line
Drinking blood red wine
The jack of all trades
And the master of none
Set out to get back at most everyone
It's not too late to get free
There something more you used to see
Get back to where you used to be

Fly away
Lost in the place I'm dreaming
I wanna hideaway
Gone forever
Flyaway
Far from the silent screaming
I wanna hideaway
Gone forever
Daughters of angst and wretched rage
Pulled a sword from the stone
Like Al Capone
As the king of pain goes insane
Where the pope of Rome
Meets the pope at home
And the nicotine stain goes unexplained

Fly away
Lost in the place I'm dreaming
I wanna hideaway
Where I can't remember
Flyaway
Far from the silent screaming
I wanna hideaway
Gone forever
Locks on a box
Holding inside
Face in a mirror
Seems to disguise
The boy at the door
Who I was before
Is more than I'll ever be
The sun kissed the day
I was well on my way
I'd love to just love you
But I've no time today
The man that I saw
Who could stand on the sea
Was more than I'd ever be
Sometimes
In the dark of my soul
In the corner of my life
I see the man inside
Morning again
The sun shining in
The boy from the sad side
No chance to win

Has walked through the door
To something much more
More than I'd ever be
Sometimes
In the dark of my soul
In the corner of my life
I see the man inside
Now I find
He is making my dreams alive
In the brightness of my day
I can see the man inside
The wounded warrior
With no temporary shelter
Had lost the will to stand and fight
To the enemy that lives inside
Now he's on the run
Because the King of angel armies
Has come to bring the dead to live
And quench the darkness with light
Now I feel like I'm alive again
Spread my arms upon the open wind
Yeah, I feel like I'm alive again
Never going back to where I've been
I can see the light
Burning in my soul
I can see the light
I know I must go

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>