Better Than

Gretchen Parlato

All you want is what you can't have it
If you just look around and you see you got magic
So just sit back, relax and enjoy it while you still have it
Don't look back and love me and only see tragic, be goodIt can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better than
You can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's betterAll the time why you're lookin' away that all
The things you can do now, these things you can say or do the
The ones your with, with whom you're spending the day
And with your gaze of tomorrow at come on and be goodIt can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better than
You can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's betterOh, I know sometimes things can be hard but Ooh, should know by now they come and they go
So why, oh why, do I look to the other side
'Cause I know the grass is greener but just as hard to mow
Life's not about what's better thanAll you want is what you can't have it if you
Just look around and you see you got magic
So just sit back, relax and enjoy your why you still have it
Don't look back and love me and only see tragic, be goodYou can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better than
You can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better thanIt can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better than
You can be better than that, don't let it get the better of you
What can be better than that, love's not about what's better than
