

The Heartache Can Wait

LeAnn Rimes

You're talking about leaving
It's right about Christmas time
Thinking about moving on
I think I might die inside I'm thinking about years gone by
I'm thinking about church at midnight
I'm thinking about letting go
I think that might finally be all right
This is where we shine Silver bells an open fire
Songs we used to sing
One more chance to be inspired
Is what I'm offering if love is not enough
Then stay with me because
The heartache can wait It's not about hanging on It's making my deal with God
If I could call one last truce
We've given it all we've got So I'm gonna catch my breath
And make it a long December
If we've got nothing left
This could be worth remembering
With a smile upon my face Silver bells an open fire
Songs we used to sing
One more chance to be inspired
Is what I'm offering if love is not enough
Then stay with me because Silver bells an open fire
Songs we used to sing
One more chance to be inspired
Is what I'm offering if love is not enough
Stay with me because
The heartache can wait You're talking about leaving
It's right around Christmas time
I'm thinking about moving on

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>