The gael

Pipes And Pints

I hear you calling
Your voice so fair
I reach out to touch you
But know you're not thereThe summer is ending
Clouds darken the sky
As the rain starts to fall
I weep and I cryNo more can I see you
Now you have passed on
The world seems so lifeless
And cold with you goneI look at the place
Were we both used to lie
And think of times past
With a tear in my eye
