Invitation

Dannii Minogue

I?m here, alone
Always staring up at the ceiling
Like it?s gonna tell me how you feel
The life I planned for me
Used to be so appealing then
But now I know I wanna keep it real
I?ve been standing here
With one foot in a fairy tale
Now I?m opening up to tell you
From love to pain and back again
Here?s my invitation to you now
It?s you I miss, the question is
Can you be the hero in my world
And come back again?
Forgive the past and believe
That I used to be scared of love
But I?ve decided not to be afraid
I?ve been standing here
With one foot in a fairy tale
Now I?m opening up to tell you
From love to pain and back again
Here?s my invitation to you now
It?s you I miss, the question is
Can you be the hero in my world
And come back again?
So many things to say
But I just need the answers
So put your arms around me, baby
We can start here
I?m praying that you take this invitation
I?m opening up to tell you
From love to pain and back again
Here?s my invitation to you now
It?s you I miss, the question is
Can you be the hero in my world
And come back again?
