

Itâ€™s Now or Never Loves

Elvis Perkins

Now when the famous anchor went up in tongues was laughing led out of studio one Oh he turned to wave 'good by my friends & all look for me at the head of the sun I'm surely severed loves'!Outside the boy barker who dumbly displays his bored arrow to Subway O he let it to the pavement and to one and all 'I will not point the way to the grave now or ever loves'From out the deep the porpoise suicides come through all manner of jetsam to a pier where man on holiday would lean to his navel reflection hear 'now or never loves'Now finally the bride of the Primrose Parade on the float Monsanto sprayed steps beyond the poisoned moats of her petticoats 'O, loves I have led you astray turn this serpent round pass the flower kids my crowns and go move in the way of the sun though i wither your work is begun'And with that in petals she fell to the stage In the system the feedback raged:'Now or never loves now or never loves
