

Heavy on My Heart

Anastacia

I try to fly away but it's impossible
And every breath I take gives birth to deeper sighs
And for a moment I am weak, so it's hard for me to speak
Even though we're underneath the same blue sky
If I could paint a picture of this melody
It would be a violin without its strings
And the canvas in my mind, sings the songs I left behind
Like pretty flowers and a sunset
It's heavy on my heart, I can't make it alone
Heavy on my heart, I can't find my way home
Heavy on my heart, so come and free me
It's so heavy on my heart
I've had my share of pleasure and I've tasted pain
I never thought that I would touch an angel's wings
There's a journey in my eyes, it's getting hard for me to hide
Like the ocean at the sunrise
It's heavy on my heart, I can't make it alone
Heavy on my heart, I can't find my way home
Heavy on my heart, so come and free me
It's so heavy on my heart
Can you find me in the darkness
And love don't let me down
There's a journey in my eyes, it's getting hard for me to hide
And I never thought I'd touch an angel's wings
It's heavy on my heart, heavy, heavy on my heart
Heavy on my heart, I said looking for my way home
Heavy on my heart, so come and free me
It's so heavy on my heart
So heavy, so heavy, so heavy

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>