

I'm Home

P.J. Pacifico

Here's the long awaited day
Happy Birthday
I couldn't want it any other way
A new pair of glasses
With surrender to calamity
So now that that's all done
And all the hearts have won
I look around and see a new life and love have now begun
But don't give it away, baby
And make sense out of that over used cliché
I can't see this any other way
I can't do this alone
This milestone
that no longer gets postponed
I've grown, and you're the only one I've known...I'm home
Back are the days of dreams remembered
All began again on the 5th of November
I look around and see a little letter to me
No what's ahead in this finest hour?
All fingers point up to the higher power
I'm now runnin' along right where I belong
Instead of clappin' on the sidelines
