

In the Grand Way

John Denver

In the grand way she loves me
The way she holds me close to rest with me
And to know she is my life to me
My empty days are done
My running days are run
And for the first time I love the morning
Burning sundown, coloured autumn trees
Mountain rivers, country livers put my mind at ease
And to realize such perfect harmonies
I'm standing in the dawn
Of a new day coming on
And I'm looking for no tomorrow
I can still hear the lonely sound
The engines of a midnight freight train northward bound
And to feel my life slowly losing ground
I never quite understood
And it seems like I've just seen dreaming
