Dying Song

Bob Forrest

I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
Shedding skin to a dying song
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe life
Into the weakest of hearts
And heard you scream out loud
The sweetest poem
Echo across the ocean
Reminding me why I still try
To hold on to
Whatever is left of you and I
Life and love
Life and love
Shedding skin to a dying song
We hum along to the evening sun
Till we are no more
Shedding skin to a dying song
We hum along to the evening sun
Till we are no more
Shedding skin to a dying song
Life and love
Life and love
Life and love
Life and love
I've seen you breathe

I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
I've seen you breathe
Life and love
Shedding skin to a dying song
Life and love
Shedding skin to a dying song
We hum along to the evening sun
Till we are no more
We hum along to the evening sun
Till we are no more
