

Panama

Crosby, Stills & Nash

Have you seen Panama
Where I first fell in love
It will forever be an emerald necklace
Set between the seas Beside a crystal stream
In the mountains of Chiriqui
I saw a girl astride a horse she waved at me
I was fifteen I was not a child I was not yet a man
I was trying very hard to understand
Indifferent to the dangers of living in a foreign land
Was I falling in love or under the spell of Panama? Went riding off alone
Much further than I should have gone
I wandered deep into the dark
Now which way gets me home Then suddenly there she was
All covered with leaves and dust
I couldn't believe it but she followed me
Now both of us were lost I was not a child I was not yet a man
I was trying very hard to understand
Indifferent to the dangers of living in a foreign land
Was I falling in love or under the spell of Panama? The clouds began to rumble
We found a dry piece of jungle
I don't remember if It rained
But I remember making love So clearly I recall
The magic of Panama
And surely never will it let me go
Yo Soy Panamenol I was not a child I was not yet a man
I was trying very hard to understand
Indifferent to the dangers of living in a foreign land
Was I falling in love or under the spell of Panama? La, la, la, la, la
La, la, la, la, la
