

Zeroes (2018) [Radio Edit]

David Bowie

(Tonight, yes, the Zeroes will be singing for you!) Yeah Yeah You've arrived in the land of a thousand different names

And the fabulous sons have crashed their planes in flames
Now tomorrow's back claiming redemption is on your heels

And a toothless past is asking you how it feels

And me my little red Corvette has driven by

My fair weather heart has fallen in

My rainy day girl is feeling down

And she tells me that the world is spinning round

I say the dream was all for you

You're nobody else

Tonight the Zeroes were singing for you

Yeah Yeah

YeahHi, can I walk you home again today

Gotta get forgive and forget hey-hey

Something good is happening I don't know what it is

Don't you know we're back on trial again today

And it's breaking wine for you

Hell it's only 'cause you're true

Someone outtimed my heart

Stopping and preaching and letting love in

You are my moon, you are my sun

Heaven knows what you are

Tonight the Zeroes are singing for you

Yes they were

Tonight the Zeroes were singing for you

Tonight the Zeroes were singing for you

Doesn't matter what you try to do

Doesn't matter what you try to do

Doesn't matter where you try to go

Doesn't matter who we really are Doesn't matter (repeat ad lib)

Doesn't matter, doesn't matter
