

Lonely Homes

Midnight Youth

Waking up, I found myself a lonely home
Fighting you, is just another shirt I own
 We're breaking seams
 You never let me pray
 You never let me move my own way
 Now I'm far across the Nile
Yeah I'm leaving Coming out to take you
 You will not escape this hold
 You know I'm the master
 You know I'm the master
 Looking out to take you
The master of control Washing up, foundations of a lonely home
 Drying out, till winter comes to freeze your bones
The winds have changed, we'll never be the same, we'll never be the same, oh know
 Now I'm far across the Nile
I am leaving Coming out to take you
 You will not escape this hold
 You know I'm the master
 You know I'm the master
 Looking out to take you
The master of control He's been around for a little while
 Just knockin at your door
 He's been around for a little while
Just playing on your mind He's been around for a little while
 He's been around for a little while
 He's been around for a little while
 He's been around for a little while

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>