Haven't Missed You All My Life

John Ralston

It's alright, you tried
Let's just pretend the cameras lied
And you were always there
And I was never scared
And I haven't missed you all my lifePulled up bedsheets above my head
It made me believe that you were always there
And I was never scared
And I haven't missed you all my lifeWe can't rewrite the past tonight
So we'll retouch the photographs, dear
Like you were always in the sightAnd we may find the perfect lines
To hide our little white lies, dear
And put you in where
You should have been all my lifeIt's alright, you tried
It's alright
Let's just pretend the cameras liedAnd you were always there
And I was never scared
And I haven't missed you all my life
