

June, July, August

The Devoted Few

I'm wasting away, crack on my head and it's always the way, impatient man I saw you today I ain't losing it I can't believe that you left don't try and take me out cause I've been there before don't try and make me out to be someone that's lost and will one day be found you're leaving today, you ain't coming back now I'm gonna stay, and this kitchen's empty my friend and this holocene end, while the city's sleeping, I ain't holding my breath. don't try and take me out cause I've been there before don't try and make me out to be someone that's lost and will one day be found

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>