

Far Beyond

The New Cities

Black clouds over me, I'm paranoid I can't shake the ground beneath my feet stick in between the right and wrong way of admitting my defeat so much confusion, disillusion of what we're supposed to be there's no solution it's the point of view we're all too blind to see all by myself I'm on my way I'll never surrender far beyond where all ambition's locked away corruption in the streets, I'm terrified the cracks in the windows are losing heat so much I've seen the more I try it keeps getting harder to believe

so much confusion, disillusion
we can't stop the motion with this notion we're so used to living with when did we become ashamed of what we've done just like a loaded gun we've got the power we'll fight back in anger

we're falling in deeper deeper and deeper

all by myself I'm on my way, I'll never surrender
far beyond, where all ambition's locked away
far beyond is where my passion hides away
