

Keeping Me Guessing

Francesca Battistelli

Coffee cup waking me up
I gotta board a plane
And fly away sometimes it feels like I'm going at the speed of light
Can't relax I'm movin' to fast
I wanna find the gold
But I don't have a map
I wish that I could know
What you've got in store for me
I try and try to read your mind
But I forget that patience is a virtue
Your teachin' me to hold on tight
And I don't know how the story ends
But I'll be alright cause you own it
I don't know where the highway bends
But I'm doing just fine
Cause your in control
Even when I don't know
Where my life's gonna go
You're keeping my guessing
Slow me down, show me around
I wanna see the world that I've been without
I am here and now the future is out of my hands
I trust in you and how you move
I won't forget that patience is a virtue
You're teaching me to hang on tight
Cause I don't know how the story ends
But I'll be alright cause you own it
And I don't know where the highway bends
But I'm doin' just fine
Cause your in control
Even when I don't know
Where my life's gonna go
You're keeping me guessing
Seasons come and seasons go
But you decide
And I don't know how the story ends
But ill be alright cause you own it
I don't know where the highway bends
But I'm doing just fine
And I don't know how the story ends
But ill be alright cause you own it
I don't know where the highway bends
But I'm doing just fine
You're in control
Even when I don't know
Where my life's gonna go

You're keeping me guessing You're keeping me guessing

Songwriters

GLOVER, BEN/BATTISTELLI, FRANCESCA Published by

Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>