

Live To Tell The Tale (Exclusive Bonus Track)

Nightwish

A single grain can tip the scale
Amidst the burden, the scale will prevail
Showing what's worth being here
Storyteller by a hearth of stone A white little creature purring me
My childhood kingdom gone in time
The islands filling my mind with blue
The one in special, heaven's court All the joy unforgiven by this task An errant soul, homeless and foul
All gone but the will to live to tell the tale The days are filled with anxiety
Frustration, one right note a day
Where to find a perfect tune
Just do the work and take a step back All the joy unforgiven by this task An errant soul, homeless and foul
All gone but the will to live to tell the tale Dark chambers of my mind
Locked around the neck of my love
None of you understand and it doesn't matter
To a broken marionette like me
(Me) An errant soul, homeless and foul
An errant soul, homeless and foul
All gone but the will to live to tell the, to tell the tale
