As the Miles Sing the Distance

Signal the Escape

Let?s dust off old words and give new meaning to the past
Raise our glasses, second glances to the memories that we have Yeah, this is ours alone, our burden to carry
But it?s only temporary, yeah, it?s only temporary

And I know where the lonely go
And I don?t want to see
You spending every night all alone
As the miles sing you to sleep

When I?m gone
It won?t be long
So, hold on, don?t break
Yeah, hold on, don?t break

When I?m gone
It won?t be long
So, hold on, don?t break
Yeah, hold on, don?t break away

I wish I had a way to reach the world over
Yeah, to tie us by the wrists and spend our nights as tightrope walkers
I remember when you said, ?I think those lips will be the death of me?
You were desperate and undressed, modest yet confident

And I know where the lonely go
And I don?t want to see
You spending every night all alone
As the miles sing you to sleep

When I?m gone
It won?t be long
So, hold on, don?t break
Yeah, hold on, don?t break

When I?m gone
It won?t be long
So, hold on, don?t break
Yeah, hold on, don?t break

From now on
It?s eyes closed
You can find me here
Until I come

From now on
It?s eyes closed
You can find me here
Until I come

From now on
It?s eyes closed
You can find me here
Until I come

From now on
It?s eyes closed
You can find me
You can find me

When I?m gone

When I?m gone
