

Ramparts

Forger

like this summer unsettled and surprisingly grey I'm supposed to be warm but I'm tricked by a cold betrayalknowing that your cold war isn't over at all seeing how you try steering a craft that is bound to stallnothing's in your way and no one's out to save you so you can wither by the wealth or you can catch up on yourselfso fed up with the good face to spare us from knowing what we already know and the faces we are scared of showingyou have all that you had now it's time to give up and leave that miserable struggle you once thought your love could stopnothing's in your way
and no one's out to save you
so you can wither by the wealth or you can catch up on yourselfnothing's in your way
and no one's out to save you when your world is coming down and your ramparts hit the ground

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>