Into The Sun

Coldplay Feat. Michael Stipe

We owe it all to the sun
And the heart for now
It gets a little bit harder
So turn it up, turn it up
Till the clock is done and left
Till it's left behind me
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like, it's just like
We owe it all to the sun
And our hearts for now
They get a little bit harder
But if you change your mind
And wave goodbye
To us and them
You were stepping on my hands
But if you change your mind, well then
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like staring into the sun
It's just like, it's just like
All we want is a lonely house

A lonely bed to call our own
And all we want is a lonely house
A lonely bed to call our own
To call our own, to call our own, to call
