

Nevermore

Alesana

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Memories saved destined to capture decades passing by
A way to remember
(We need to remember) Moments fade leaving to rejoin decades passing by Let's savor the present but not lose the future!
The shifting sands of time pour from the past
But you don't know then what you hate to now I try to argue but I'm not getting through
Close your eyes and sing along with me
Relive the memory
We've been here before and I'm begging for more
A destination so beautiful I'm speechless Idle hand are the devil's playground
Problem solved
Get off your ass and pretend that you care!
Nothing will change if we don't stand and fight!
Call us to arms into the night! If we all take it for granted music soon will die
It's vanishing slowly through ignorant madness
If you see what's wrong take a stand and scream out loud
If they want silence then disappoint them all I try to argue but I'm not getting through
Close your eyes and sing along with me
Relive the memory
We've been here before and I'm begging for more
A destination so beautiful I'm speechless
I'm speechless... A positive metal attitude
Dare to put your pen to the page fearlessly imagine your own tale
Opens doors and we're walking through
The music survives if we keep the songs alive
Step inside and relive the dream of a young boy who tried to sing and managed to fly
His story should never die Idle hand are the devil's playground
Problem solved
Get off your ass and pretend that you care!
Nothing will change if we don't stand and fight!
Call us to arms into the night! With smiles and open arms we all embrace the underdog
DREAM!

Dream of a yet unvisited renaissance
A time when music will shimmer with hope! I try to argue but I'm not getting through Close your eyes...
I try to argue but I'm not getting through
Close your eyes and sing along with me
Relive the memory
We've been here before and I'm begging for more
A destination so beautiful I'm speechless

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>