I Will Fear No Evil

Ball-Point Birds

Inspiration illudes me,
Psychological stone has wounded me with a feeling of doom.
There was a bright light, now there is twilight.
There was a fresh breath, now thereâ€™s just cigarettes in a strange empty room.

But I will fear no evil, thereâ€™s no paradise
there is only my mind and what it believes.

In the starry night, there is nothing to see
No faces I love, and no jealousy
Just an endless cocoon

But I will fear no evil, thereâ€™s no paradise
There is only my mind and what it believes.
