Waiting

Cheryl

This time, this time is my time
My life lies in the base line
You tried to take what was all mine
My pride, I bowed down and I swearMy turn to make all the bells shine
I know that you know that I tried
I don't count the tears I've cried
This car has driven its last mileAs you stand on the edge for a love
For somethin' to believe in
As you stand in the rain and then fall
For somethin' to believe in
Waitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you to get it right
Waitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you, somethin' to believe inIn another world, another life
I still belong to you
In another time, you'll still be mine
And I belong to youI'm ready and you're ready so who cares?
But get the stranger's judgment and mean glares
I always did what I thought had seemed fair
I walked away, saved by the last hairNot easily, my God, I was so scared
Just so you know I can't help that I care
I pray you're well, I just know that I can't
I can't, I can't be afraid
As you stand on the edge for a love
For somethin' to believe in
As you stand in the rain and then fall
For somethin' to believe inWaitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you to get it right
Waitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you, somethin' to believe inIn another world, another life
I still belong to you
In another time, you'll still be mine
And I belong to youEven though it's at the end
A brand new morning can begin
And the sun will shine again, again

Again, again, again, again, again, againWaitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you to get it right
Waitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you, somethin' to believe inIn another world, another life
I still belong to you
In another time, you'll still be mine
And I belong to youWaitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you to get it right
Waitin' around all over town
Waitin' around all over town
For you, somethin' to believe in
