

Matter of Time

Wovenwar

Pull back the curtain
The one behind it has a different face
 He had a workplace
The years are dying at a different pace
 Time will save your soul
 The more that you question
 The more the answers are what we want to hear
We fight to conceal the truth but it's all a matter of time, of time
The years wasted persuaded to smile when it feels so wrong inside, inside
 I can see your deception
 You can only hide in for so long
 But we choose to be silent
 Stick to the story
We fight to conceal the truth but its all a matter of time, of time
The years wasted persuaded to smile when it feels so wrong inside, inside
 How could we let ourselves
 Continue this routine?
The artificial beat of a heart that's long since ceased
 How could we let ourselves
 Continue this routine?
The artificial beat of a heart that's long since ceased
We fight to conceal the truth but its all a matter of time, of time
The years wasted persuaded to smile when it feels so wrong inside, inside
 We fight to conceal the truth but its all a matter of time
