

Woman

Mikhael Paskalev

If I knew what Debbie wanted,
I'd be happy, I would smile,
She'd be lying next to me,
with her legs tangled up in mine. Now she isn't here with me,
She's all gone, she's moved on.
She ran over to Billy,
Where's my dawn? Where's my dawn?
She ran over to Billy. I'd be thinking, I've been drinking,
I've been staying away,
From the house we used to live in,
And the places we would lay.
Put the bottle to my head,
And shot it dead, you and I,
Dug a ditch by the graveyard.
Meant to visit, ain't got time.
Dug a ditch by the graveyard. Na na na na na na na... You used to be the girl,
But now you're a woman.
The woman to break the world,
You did, you did. x3 And now you're a woman.
A woman, a woman.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>