Deathblow

Deftones

Soon as you came in
All the beast went away
They noticed that you're warm
Wait till you leave then come back for more
The ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have known
As soon as you came in
Agony it went away
I noticed what you wore
To everything we spoke and more
And the ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have known
It only takes one break of your pose
To get off

To save our place, home with you
And the same song
As soon as you came in is when I believe
We both crashed course
And the ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have known
It only takes one break of your pose
To get off
And to save our place home with you all
That's all it takes
Well I should have known
It's still the same song
It's still the same song

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/