The Careful Ones

all of the mistakes I've made this is the one I won't forgetand so it goes and so it ends the things we have the things I giveyou don't want secrets I want truth anything that ties me toI swear admit it to me now and fall into my arms somehowthe leaves fall five times maybe now as I try hard to clear my doubtbut if you did it just to try and my soul lifted just to diethe hole, the burning heart, the soul on fire I could not speak for my own state of mind I hope it hurts enough to make you cry to know your pain is mine
