

Where Insanity Rules

Morgana Lefay

Do they listen to what you say do you care about decisions they make do you want them to rule the game they decide and you have to obey They rule the world but in fact they are insane what's going on in their empty brains their conclusions and philosophy does it really bother me

It's a political chaos where insanity rules

What the fuck do they know about the reality show can they see anything at all from behind those walls

They make the rules for you to follow what's going on in their empty brains prohibitions and deprecations does it really bother me

It's a political chaos...

They live like kings with diamond rings

I weep the poor with their broken dreams

I can't believe that it's for real their life of ease is something that I can't feel all the money they make on their political mistakes

They make the rules for you to follow what's going on in their empty brains
they make it worse for the common beings and that really bothers me

It's a political chaos...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>