

Colorado

Linda Ronstadt

Hey, Colorado
It was not so long ago
I left your mountains
To try life on the road But I'm tired of that race
It was much too fast a pace
And I think I've found my place
Colorado, I want to come home I had a man there
But I left him far behind
I could have loved him
If I'd only had the time Ah, but I stopped along my way
Just long enough to say
That I'd really like to stay
But my baby, you know I have to go I was too young
To know what I'd done
I made my plans
But I was wrong
Yes, I was wrong Colorado
Is it too late to change my mind
I've done some thinking
And I'm trying hard to find A way to come back home
'Cause I've been so very long alone
Won't you take care of your own? Colorado
I think I'm coming home
I want to come home
Let me come home
