

1936 (COFRESI Remix)

Phox

Her blood is our blood, too, I know
And I feel all of it, too, you know
You know 1936 breathing
Garnet her stone, ever gleaming
And Edith's hope is for love
But she doesn't hear of her grandchildren grieving, no
Eldest raised by Al Ringling
Spirit granted from Sing Sing
All of her heart is for drugs
And she doesn't care that everyone is leaving
Her blood is our blood, too, I know
I feel all of it, too, you know
Her blood is our blood, too, I know
I feel all of it, too, you know
Halfway in the hour, toward the mid of the night
We met our hands despite our wicked fight
Then we will sort our way around
This awful mess that all our genes has thrown around
Her blood is our blood, too, I know
I feel all of it, too, you know
Her blood is our blood, too, I know
I feel all of it, too, you know

Songwriters

DAVID THOMAS ROBERTS, MATTHEW ALLEN ROBERTS, JASON ALAN KRUNNFUSZ, MATTHEW GERALD HOLMEN, ZACHARY ALAN SONNTAG JOHNSTON, MONICA HOPE MARTIN
Published by
Lyrics © DOWNTOWN MUSIC PUBLISHING LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.
Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>