If I Start With the Chorus

Gilbert O'Sullivan

If I start with the chorus as I progress with this song even though it's arse over backwards sometimes it pays to be wrongWhen your life is in a turmoil be it sad or incomplete no use crying over spilt milk think like a cat and be pleasedThis is the verse this is the sound of my life and I for one can't take it funny how things just go from bad to worse it never stops until it really hurtsWhen your life is in a quandary be it sad or incomplete think of those worse off than you perhaps might give some kind of reliefThis is the verse this is the sound of my life and I for one can't take it you know she's not she's all cracked up to be you're better off without her wait and seeIf I start with the chorus as I progress with this song
even though it's arse over backwards
sometimes it pays to be wrong

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/