

Dull Times / The Moon

Band of Horses

Setting sun, forgot who I was
Put the garbage where it doesn't belong
All is numb, two minutes to one
What's your life like with all that you've done?
You've done, you've done Listen close wherever you go
Dull times, let'em seep into your bones
Keep it kind, always in time
Honest themes every once in a while
In a while, in a while
In a while, in a while Filthy room, guitars out of tune
Blank thoughts like I promised to you
Underneath is there something to see?
Slower clouds only reflecting
On the water, on the water,
On the water, on the water
Feel's like I'm going insane, why bother? The home is where the heart is How long we've apart, it's been hard
Or home is where you are
Which side I live on, I won't say Home is where the heart is How long we've been apart
It's been hard-er home
Home is where you are
And which side I live on
Long we've been apart
Home is where the heart
Home is where you are Blank state and maudlin
In need of something to say
Get to solving this thinking problem
Dissolution at the start of the day, start of the day I administered badly
Dreaming mysteries up
The stars spinning around and around me
While the tasks keep piling up
Piling up, they're piling up I might talk to the ceiling
I never need something to do
I never needed a reason to stare into the light, the light of the moon (moon)
Staring at the light (moon) Home is where the heart is, home is where you are Long we've been apart, which side I live on
Home is where the heart
Staring at the light (moon)

Staring at the light (moon)

Songwriters

BEN BRIDWELL, RYAN MONROE, TYLER RAMSEY, BILL REYNOLDS, CREIGHTON

BARRETTPublished by

Lyrics Â© KOBALT MUSIC PUBLISHING LIMITED,

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>