

I'm Ok By Myself

Morrissey

Could this be an arm around my waist?

Well, surely the hand contains a knife?

It's been so all of my life

Why change now? It hasn't

Now this might surprise you but

I find I'm okay by myself

And I don't need you

Or your morality to save me

No, no, no, no, no

Then came an arm around my shoulder

Well, surely the hand holds a revolver?

It's been so all of my life

Why change now? It hasn't

Now this might disturb you but

I find I'm okay by myself

And I don't need you

Or your benevolence to make sense

No, no, no, no

After all these years

I find I'm okay by myself

And I don't need you

Or your homespun philosophy

No, no, no, no

This might make you throw up in your bed

I'm okay by myself

And I don't need you

And I never have, I never have

No, no, no, no
