

Night Song

Jane Olivor

a thought just kinda struck me as i'm lying here awake - there's no accounting for the path a sleepless mind will take!
and since i came upon it now, I thought i'd set it down so maybe i could let you know, next time you're around -

that i could love you!

you mind just sorta dances in the time before you sleep you think you grasp a lot of things but very few you keep - so as these thoughts are passin' through, i let most of them go but i held this one for you 'cause i thought you'd like to know....

that i could love you!

and the one that just occurred to me - it really made me smile - it's funny, you can puzzle over things for quite a while, and never seem to know for sure which way you're gonna go - i guess i just suspected it, just like that, I know - that i could love you!

Lyrics submitted by william.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>