

World Spins Madly On

Nervous But Excited

I woke up and wished that I was dead
With an aching in my head, I laid motionless in bed
I thought of you and where you'd gone
The world spins madly on

And everything that I said I'd do,
Like make the world brand new and take the time for you,
I just got lost and stepped right through the dawn
And the world spins madly on

I let the day go by, I always say goodbye,
I watch the stars from out of the window sill
The whole world is moving, but I'm standing still

I woke up and wished that I was dead
With an aching in my head, I laid motionless in bed
The night is here, the day is gone,
The world spins madly on

I thought of you and where you'd gone
And the world spins madly on
And the world spins madly on
And the world spins madly on
And on
And on
