

Slayer of Light

Ensiferum

I have come to unfold your mind
In my veins runs the poison wild
In the streams of mountains I flow I have opened the doors for unleashed and endless hate
It will burn like the raging green flames
Inside a man dwells secrets so cold Through the dreadful storms, across the frozen oceans
I have come from the dark lands with sorrow in my hands
The fire wind rages in the sky And my luminous sword hungers for more
I will leave no one alive
For I am the slayer of light I, I will break your will
I, I will crush your faith
I, I will slay your dreams
I will reclaim the stars
And I will tear your precious world apart
Will tear it apart I will pull everything with me under the surface
And all the screams will fade into my dreams
(Fall now, dying light) I will burn away the ground beneath your feet
And all will be vanished in the darkness, dying light
(Fall now)
And let the night arrive Through the dreadful storms, across the frozen oceans
I have come from the dark lands with sorrow in my hands
The fire wind rages in the sky And my luminous sword hungers for more
I will leave no one alive
For I am the slayer of light
