Point Of View

Blink 182

Two different people, two different places
Through a one-way window with two different faces
Agreements are not reached, faces are forgotten
The other person shows you have not got in
Stubborn minded, enclosed to your own world
Wake up and see someone else's morals
What is right to you, might be true
It's a different point of view to you
You cannot see things that are different to me
I can't understand why you cannot see
The things that I cannot see
I see what you don't see, I see what you don't see
Turn around and the shadows are all around me
Two different people, two different places
Through a one-way window with two different faces
Agreements are not reached, faces are forgotten
The other person shows you have not got in
