

Crown of Thorns

Saga

Truth is born, mystified
'Til the day it hunts you down
Crown of thorns, dignified
Fills my head without a sound One endless crime of anxiety
Am I last in line?
The ocean of time has forsaken me
Tell me, why? Iron tongues, suckled life
While I'm helpless bruised and torn
Broken laws, poisoned minds
Feel my blood is running cold One endless crime of anxiety
Am I last in line?
The ocean of time has forsaken me
Tell me, why? The scattered profanity honored and written in stone
Conducted by vanity leading us more than you know Wreck of lies, toxic codes
As I start to lose control
Cracks my skin, indisposed
Now I'm ready to explode One endless crime of anxiety
Am I last in line?
The ocean of time has forsaken me
Tell me, why
Tell me, why The scattered profanity honored and written in stone
Conducted by vanity leading us more than you know The scattered profanity honored and written in stone
Conducted by vanity leading us more than you know One endless crime of anxiety
Am I last in line?
The ocean of time has forsaken me
Tell me, why? One endless crime of anxiety
Am I last in line?
The ocean of time has forsaken me
Tell me, why? Truth is born, mystified
'Til the day it hunts you down
Crown of thorns, dignified
Fills my head without a sound The scattered profanity honored and written in stone
Conducted by vanity leading us more than you know The scattered profanity honored and written in stone
Conducted by vanity leading us more than you know

Songwriters

IAN STEVENSON CRICHTON, JAMES DICKSON CRICHTON, JAMES GERAD GILMOUR, ROBERT MORATTI Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Peermusic Publishing, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song

Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>