Promises

Joan Armatrading

Come to me, baby
Stay by my side
Don't try to fake it
With little white liesI want you to be always by my side
The burden of proof is for you to deny
I found you out
Now let's do whatever it takes
For us to survivePromise love that never dies
Paint a blue and perfect skyCome to me, baby
Stay by my side
Where we stand now
Is our default lineI want you to be always by my side
We've both made mistakes
But we're human and so
As much as we think we're infallible
We get it wrong sometimesPromise love that never dies
Paint a blue and perfect skyEverything changes
As much as we wish
There is nothing that remainsAnd this feeling
That we're both searching for
It's elusive like chasing the cloudsStill I want you to Come to me, babyPromise love that never dies
Paint a blue and perfect sky
Promise love that never dies
Paint a blue and perfect skyPromise love that never dies
Paint a blue and perfect sky
