Modern Day Fire

A Static Lullaby

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

dont you cry, your about to lose your grip take your eye, take the stone off the pedal theres no time to be facetious we meant every word we saidlast night i woke up cold of sweat the bitter taste in my mouth that has labeled me a weakness tonight we'll entertain our guests with a glass of water yet a taste i wont missand you better get better (you better get better)
so you can save our day (we are are better)
and you better get better so you can save our daydont you cry, your about to lose your grip take your eye, take the stone off the pedalif time invites a light ahead and its followed by your body that is stapeled to the mattress tempt me with this broken purityand you better get better (you better get better)
so you can save our day (we are are better)
and you better get better
we wont be the sameand you better get better (you better get better)
so you can save our day (we are are better)
and you better get better
so you can save our day
thats been sitting in my pocket i havent lost my interest

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/