

Insanity's Contagious

Entombed

My brain sometimes intends to walk away
Somehow my hat seems to hold it together
But if I feel like slipping away for a bit
All I have to do is take my hat off I'm tired of hating and feeling down
My ears they're bleeding and I'm getting old I wanna live, live in the town, live in the town
Where everybody is young and no one has died Last night I dreamt about throwing up worms
My big black cat turned into a crippled rat Insanity's contagious so am I Got plugs in my ear to keep my thoughts within I wanna live, live in a town, live in the town
Where everybody is young and no one has died Insanity's contagious, in a town
Where everybody is young and no one has died
Where everybody is young and no one has died
